General Butler Talking to a Rebel Clergyman.

The Norfolk New Regime of March 29, publishes a two-column report of the examination of Rev. George D. Armstrong, of that city, by General Butler. This is the same clergyman who was recently sentenced to imprisonment at Fort Hatteras for his rebel sentiments. An aid of General Buttler conducted the first examination, but the General himself afterwards made a careful personal investigation, cross-questioning Mr. Armstrong very sharply. The following are extracts from the report of the interview:

General Butler—I perceive that in your former examination you declined answering this question: "Do you call yourself a loyal man in letter and spirit to-day?"

Mr. Armstrong—I do not decline to answer now; if I were to put my own interpretation upon it, I should say I am; but I dont know, sir.

General—Well, sir, perhaps I can teach you. Now, sir, what is the name of that gentleman who had taken the oath, and while coming out of the Custom House with you, made the remark that he "would like to spit upon the northern Yankees."

Mr. A.— Chas. Ried. I declined to answer on my former examination because I had not his consent to tell, sir; but since that I have seen him, and he has given me his consent to mention his name.

General—Where is Mr. Reid?

Mr. A.—He is in Norfolk.

General—(To an aide) Telegraph to Colonel Wheldon, (Provost Marshal, Norfolk) to arrest Mr. Charles Reid and send him here. He lives on Main street.

General—He stated that, as he came out from taking the oath?

Mr. A.—Yes sir.

General—With the oath fresh on his lips and the words hardly dry in his mouth, he said he "wanted to spit in the face of the northern Yankees?"

Mr. A.—Well General, he took it with the same view as I did.

General—I agree to that, sir.

Mr. A.—I meant to say—

General—Stop, sir, I don't like to be insulted. You said, sir, that that infernal secessionst wanted to spit in the faces of loyal men of this Union, and that you took the oath with the same view as he did, or rather he took it with the same view that you did—it makes no difference which. I agree, sir, that you did. I have treated you, sir, during this interview, with propriety and courtesy up to this moment, and yet you, sir, tell me, in order to clear this vile wretch, who shall be punished as he deserves, that you took the oath to my government with the same view that he did.

Mr. A.—Well, sir, it was a mortifying fact to confess that we were a conquered people; and it was the irritation growing out of that fact.

General—You have not helped it, sir. You better not go on in that direction any further, sir, for your own sake. Now, sir, while you did preach a very virulent sermon upon "The Victory of Manassas," at the recommendation of the Confederate Congress, have you ever since preached in your pulpit a sermon favorable to the Union cause, or one that would be likely to please the loyal, and displease the disloyal?

Mr. A.—No sir, I never have.

After some further questioning, the examination was continued as follows:

General—You said you looked upon the hanging of John Brown as just and right because he interfered with the peace of the country.

Mr. A.—Yes, sir.

General—Very good, sir. Now, then, would you look upon the hanging of the prominent rebels, Jefferson Davis for instance, as just and right? You know the rebels have interfered with the peace of the country and have caused rivers of blood to flow where John Brown only caused pints. What do you say to that?

Mr. A.—I would not, sir.

General—Are your sympathies with the Union or the Confederate cause.

Mr. A.—With the Confederates.

The examination concluded with the following order from the General:

"Make an order that this man be committed to the guard house, in close confinement, there to remain until he can be consigned to Fort Hatteras, there to be kept in solitary confinement until further orders; and send a copy of this examination to the officer in command there."

The Reciprocity Treaty.

The following is the substance of the supplemental report on the subject of the abrogation of the Reciprocity Treaty with Canada, reported on Friday from the Committee on Commerce in Congress by Mr. Ward of New York:

The report shows that in the forty-two years from 1821 to 1863, the exports from the United States to the British colonies have increased from $22,009,336 to $28,627,110, and the exports of articles of foreign origin from $445 to $2,651,920. The imports from the provinces increased from $490,604 in 1821 to $19,209,990 in 1862. The ratio of increase was much affected by the Reciprocity Treaty, which did not go into full effect until 1855 and 1856.

As the trade with Canada is the only cause of dissatisfaction with the treaty, a statement is made showing that the domestic exports have risen from $2,320,323 to $16,430,605 in 1863. The total exports, domestic and foreign, in those years, was $134,614,376, and the imports were $133,144,600.

Of our exports (exclusive of the articles which passed through the United Statss in bond) $26,664,465 consisted of articles of foreign origin, which are purchased with productions of the United States, and yield employment not only to the farmer and mechanic but to the shipper and sailor, as well as profit to the merchant.

The gradual dimunition of our exports to Canada is shown by the fact that in 1855 they amounted to $8,769,580, and n 1862 they had, declined to $1,468,113. 1855 is an exceptional year on account of the great expenditure of British capital in building railroads in Canada, but the trade in 1863 was only half the average amount in five years preceding the treaty.

This has been effected by the enactment of a system, practically differential and discriminating against this country, by laying duties on the value of merchandise at the places where it was last bought, which practically shuts the door to the admission into Canada of the leading articles hitherto purchased in the United States, and forcing Upper Canada to import via the St. Lawrence, or otherwise pay an enormous increase of duty. Canadian merchants are thus virtually driven from our markets, and the trade of the United States in articles produced in the United States has gradually declined from $4,185,516 in 1858–59 to $1,510,862 in 1862–63.

The tendency of the past reciprocal system of trade between the two countries is illustrated by the fact that, the year before the treaty came into effect, the value of direct imports to Canada via the St. Lawrence declined from $21,171,756 to $11,494,228 and the exports from $12,501,372 to $8,195,500.

Some of the leading advantages to the United States of the Reciprocity Treaty, including the fishing question, are set forth in detail, and the report closes by reference to the action of the various Northwestern cities in favor of truly reciprocal trade, commerce and navigation between this country and the British provinces.

Effects of Inhaling the Fumes of Phosphorus.

Two years ago a young girl working in a match manufactory near this city had one of her front teeth extracted. The fumes of phosphorus pervading the atmosphere in which she lived thus daily, entering the cavity produced by loss of the tooth, induced a poisonous disease (necrosis), extending to either side of the jaw-bone. Points of discharge soon appeared upon the surface of the skin. This went on for two years, minor operations being made at times, to take away diseased portions of bone. At the end of these two years it was found necessary to resort to an extreme operation, and it was completed on Saturday, March 19th, at St. Vincent's Hospital, in presence of Drs. Mott, Van Buren and others. The entire jaw-bone, from side to side, was removed, and the tongue fastened down to prevent suffocation, until such time as the part should heal. This young girl is now terribly deformed, can take only liquids hereafter for sustenance—all the beauty of life destroyed to her.

Twelve such cases have occured within the last few years. Is it not time some means should be taken to circulate knowledge of the possibility of such monstrous consequences to those who work in such places. Parents who place their children in such factories should know the danger they incur. The wages should be proportioned to the risk, or at least some provision should be made for any one suffering so enormously from such cause.—[New York Evening Post.

THE FREE COLORED CITIZENS OF LOUISIANA. We have received a copy of the petition of the free colored citizens of Louisiana, recently presented to the President and Congress, requesting that their names should be placed on the registers in that State as voters, the military authorities there having declined to do so. The petitioners set forth that they are natives of Louisiana, loyal citizens of the United States, and ready to sacrifice their fortunes and lives to maintain the national unity; that a large portion of them are owners of real estate, and all of them owners of personal property; that they are fitted to enjoy the immunities and privileges of citizens of the United States, and that many of them are descendants of those men whom the illustrious Jackson styled his "fellow-citizens," when he called upon them to defend New Orleans; that, notwithstanding the principles of the Declaration of Independence, and their services in the war of 1812, they have been excluded from all franchises, yet have paid taxes on an assessment of more than $15,000,000; and that at the call of Gen. Banks, they rallied under the banner of Union and liberty, and when Gen. Shepley called for troops to defend New Orleans during the siege of Port Hudson, they were foremost in responding, and raised a regiment in forty-eight hours. On these grounds they ask to be treated as men and admitted to the right of suffrage.—[Boston Journal.

CITY OF PORTLAND.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, March 31, 1864.

THE following circular has been received from the Governor, and as it is important that full information of enlistments in the Navy from this city, should be obtained, the Assistant Assessors in the various Wards have been directed to call at the house of each inhabitant to obtain the desired information. Citizens are requested to answer fully, the enquiries that may be made for this purpose, and in case they are not called upon, and can give information of such enlistments, they are requested to communicate the same to this office.

JACOB McLELLAN, Mayor.

STATE OF MAINE.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, Augusta, March 26, 1864.

The returns from the Provost Marshal General's Office have given no credit, comparatively, under the recent act of Congress, for enlistments in the Navy. To the end, therefore, that each and all of our cities, towns and plantations, who have now in the naval service of the United States any of their residents or citizens liable to enrolment for military duty, may have full credit upon their quotas under existing calls from the Government, the municipal authorities will immediately ascertain the names of such persons serving in the Navy, date of enlistment, name of vessel they are now in, or in which they commenced service. Nothing short of personal and persistent application forthwith to every shipping office, lodging house, dwelling house, boarding box, and every place in port or town, and every mariner or other person likely to possess knowledge of the desired facts, will secure the important and valuable information now rendered so desirable.

Blanks are herewith furnished for making the required return of the names of persons thus serving, with proper columns for remarks and statements of dates, age, name of vessel, &c., &c., as near as can be ascertained. These will be returned as soon as completed, to the Adjutant General's Office, Augusta, Me. SAMUEL CONY, ap1 d1w Governor of Maine.

United States Internal Revenue

Annual Taxes for 1864.

THE attention of tax-payers is hereby called to the provisions of the United States Excise Law relative to the assessment of the annual taxes.

By the sixth section of the act of July 1, 1862, it is made the duty of all persons, partnerships firms, associations, or corporations, made liable to any annual duty, license, or tax, ON OR BEFORE THE FIRST MONDAY OF MAY IN EACH YEAR, to make a list or return to the Assistant Assessor of the District where located of the amount of annual income, the articles or objects charged with a special tax, and the business or occupation liable to pay any license.

Every person who shall fail to make such return by the day specified will be liable to be assessed by the Assessor according to the best information which he can obtain; and in such case the Assessor is required to add fifty per centum to the amount of the items of such list.

Every person who shall deliver to an Assessor any false or fraudulent list or statement with intent to evade the valuation or enumeration required by law, is subject to a fine of five hundred dollars; and in such case the list will be made out by the Assessor or Assistant Assessor, and from the valuation and enumeration so made there can be no appeal.

Payment of the annual taxes, except those for licenses, will not be demanded until the thirtieth day of June.

The appropriate blanks on which to make return, and all necessary information, will be furnished by the Assistant Assessors for the several Divisions, to whom the returns should be delivered on or before the first Monday of May next. Returns of Income for 1863, may be made at once.

Splendid Pleasure Resort!

THE WHITE HOUSE,

(FORMERLY WILSON HOUSE.)

J. P. MILLER,.....PROPRIETOR.

This popular Hotel has recently been purchased by Mr. Miller (of the Albion) and has been thoroughly refitted, renovated and repaired, and numerous excellent alterations made. It is located on the Saccarappa road, about four miles from Portland, affording a beautiful drive over a good road, and just about far enough for pleasure.

It has a fine large Dancing Hall and good Bowling Alleys. In close proximity to the house is a warm and roomy Stable, containing twenty nice stalls. There is also a well sheltered Shed, 105 feet long, for hitching horses.

The choicest Suppers will be got up for sleighing and dancing parties, who will find it greatly to their pleasure and advantage to resort to the White House.

No effort will be spared for the entertainment of guests. dec19-dtf

CABINET ORGANS.

THE subscriber, being impressed with the great excellence of these Instruments, and their adaptation either for small churches, vestrys, or parlors, offers them for sale to the citizens of Portland and vicinity.

The manufacturers have the written testimony of over a hundred of the best Organists and Musicians, both foreign and native, to the effect that they are superior to any Instruments of the kind that they have ever seen. Among the testimonials of such as Thalberg, Morgan and Zundel, is the following from Gottschalk:

"MESSRS. MASON & HAMLIN:—I congratulate you on the introduction of a new Musical Instrument, long wanted, and sure to find its way into every household of taste and refinement that can possibly afford its moderate expense. Your Cabinet Organ is truly a charming instrument, worthy of the high praise it has received, and far superior to everything of its class I have seen. I take pleasure in commending it most heartily as everywhere worthy a place beside the Piano Forte, to which it is a fine complement, from its capacity for rendering much delightful music, sacred, secular, classic and popular, to which the Piano is not adapted."

GOTTSCHALK.

Letter from East Tennessee.

A short time since, Wm. L. Southard, Esq., of this city, sent a copy of Col. Taylor's Appeal in behalf of the sufferers in East Tennessee, to Capt. W. W. Deane, on Gen. Tilson's staff, at Knoxville, with a request that he should write informing him (Mr. Southard) whether the picture of the distress there was overdrawn; not that Mr. S. distrusted Col. Taylor's statements, but he wished the people of Portland and of Maine, to understand the imperative nature of the demands of these loyal people upon the kindness and aid of their fellow-citizens of the North. In reply to Mr. Southard's letter the following has been received, and though it was written without the slightest expectation that it would be published, it is believed the public good will be subserved by such publication. Mr. Deane is well known in this city, and, his word will be taken without discount. Mr. D. refers to a Rev. Mr. Hume, in the closing part of his letter. Mr. Southard has heard from Mr. H., and his story only serves to show that the picture of the sufferings of that loyal people, cannot easily be overdrawn:

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., March 17, 1864.

W. L. SOUTHARD, Esq.

Dear Sir:—Your favor of March 3d, enclosing "Appeal in behalf of the Sufferers in East Tennessee," and asking information about the condition of the people of this section, is just received.

The only fault I find with the "Appeal" is that it don't say enough—does not do justice to the facts in the case. I am not so capable as one who has not been in the field or become used to the destruction of property by an army in an active campaign, to tell you of the sufferings and destitution that obtain here. This war has made most of its participators unused to the quiet peace and prosperity of other days.

For these reasons it is with much delicacy that I venture to judge and speak of the sufferings of the people of East Tennessee; but I will tell you what I have seen, and of what I have heard from reliable, intelligent gentlemen, army officers and others.

In all that limited section of this State through which I have been, and through all those portions where the two armies have been, there is literally nothing to eat or wear; no fences to protect their crops should they attempt to plant any; no men to till the ground if there were fences. The men are all in the army; there is no seed to plant their land with, no cattle or horses to do their ordinary work. There is only a strong, earnest, ardent love for the Union without an "if" or a "but." This is the present actual condition of the people and of East Tennessee. The garden of the whole section, "The Valley of the Halston," has been occupied by Longstreet's army which has destroyed, or eaten, or carried away the comparatively small amount of cattle and corn there was left when they went into the Valley in December last. This whole section is in the same condition Westbrook would be in if all the fences and barns and three quarters of the houses were destroyed, and all the males of the population dead or in the army, and nothing in the remaining habitations but a little corn, with now and then a cow and here and there a chicken to eat. This city, the commercial center, would be represented by Portland if twelve fifteenths of the population of that place had disappeared, two thirds of the buildings in the city were burned down and destroyed for fire-wood, all the fences gone, the remaining business houses and hotel buildings used for Government purposes, with thousands of dead horses and mules covering the ground in the outskirts of the city and but little to eat in the city. This picture is not overdrawn.

On the 31st of Dec., the day I arrived here, matters were much worse. The streets were filled with dead animals, there were no medical stores, hundreds of cases of small-pox in the city and the disease increasing, quarter rations issued to the soldiers,—and those only of corn meal and meat, the former frequently ground with the cob—and no clothes for the men, many of them half naked through all that bitter, biting cold; and if this was the case with the army you can imagine the situation of the people of the country. With all this suffering (I am not speaking of the army now) there has been but one expression everywhere, that of loyalty to the Union. I have heard some of the greatest sufferers say, "I have scarcely anything left, but if the Government needs it they can have it so the rebellion be put down. I know of one instance, only a few miles from here, which is only a trifling one, of the devotion of the people and of their suffering.

An old man some sixty odd years of age, was required by a party of men from Longstreet's army, to tell the whereabouts of his son, that he might be put in the rebel army. The old man refused and he was hung for not telling, three times, being cut down each time before life was extinct; but he remained firm. Instances multiply of this kind. One of the chief miscreants and most supple tools of the Confederacy was a man, originally from Maine, named Leadbetter, whose crimes are so many and so horrible that I will not weary you with their recital.

The "Appeal" is not the whole truth. The outline of the destitution here is "there is nothing in East Tennessee to eat or wear."—The story of what the people have undergone in devotion to their country would fill a volume and would read more like a romance than the truth. The story would require time to write it. The result of the sufferings exists to-day, and I think you will one day esteem it the proudest day of your life, the one when you entered heart and soul upon the duty assigned you by your fellow-citizens, of soliciting aid for the people of East Tennessee.

Pardon me the desultory nature of this communication. If you will do me the honor to visit me during the spring, I will show you more plainly than can be written, the evidences of what this people have suffered, and how much good you have been the means of doing among the suffering people of this section.

I have asked the Rev. Mr. Hume, rector of the Episcopal church here a gentleman of unaffected piety and truth, to write you, and he will tell you more feelingly and more connectedly than I can, some phases of the rebellion and suffering here in East Tennessee. Truly yours,

W. W. D.

Bowdoin College.

A friend has placed upon our table a catalogue of Bowdoin College for the spring, 1864. From it we learn that there are 30 Seniors, 33 Juniors, 31 Sophomores, 38 Freshmen; making one hundred and thirty-two in all. The classes are smaller than usual; the same causes having operated there, as in all our other institutions. Very many from the different classes have left for the army, and quite a number of young men in a preparatory course have gone into the service. The Medical class is larger than common numbering ninety-six.

We notice three vacancies in the Boards. Judge Goodenow, of the Trustees, has deceased, and the same is true of Dr. Tappan and Hon. H. Vose, of the Overseers. The Collins Professorship of Natural and Revealed Religion is vacant.

Professor, alias Col. Chamberlain is still absent at his post in the army, where he is doing well for the "institution' and for the country.

We notice that Portland is represented by some 13 students in the College and by 4 in the Medical school.

Public exhibition of the Junior and Senior classes comes off Monday evening, April 11.

☞ An exchange says: "Another temperance revival is sweeping over the New England States." We hope it will use a new broom.

☞ Seven cases of murder are set down for trial at New York the week ending 9th inst., and several cases of manslaughter, in addition.

☞ Rev. Robert Collyer, of Chicago, has declined a recent call of the 28th Congregationel Society, Boston (Theodore Parker's) to become their pastor.

☞ The City Council of Newburyport has refused to grant the petition of the spiritualists for the use of the City Hall on the Lord's day, to hold public worship in.

☞ A physician in Paris has been fined 5000 francs for divulging the nature of his patient's disease, and ordered to pay the complainant 1000 francs for the injury sustained.

☞ The imports of foreign dry goods at New York for the month of March, 1864, were $12,635,127, more than double that of 1861.

☞ The New York World thinks every State in the Union, except New Jersey, would go for the Republicans to-day, if the election should be held.

☞ The number of people who visited the Metropolitan Fair at New York on Tuesday was 13,487, and $43,000 were taken at the door for tickets alone.

☞ Cornelius Vanderbilt, who is now considered worth $20,000,000, began life carrying garden sauce from Staten Island to New York city in a small sall boat.

☞ The trip from New York to Albany was made by Hudson river steamers on Monday night in eight hours and forty-two seconds. The quickest passage on record.

☞ The election in Louisiana on the 28th ult., for delegates to the Constitutional Convention, resulted in the complete triumph of the Free State party.

☞ Mrs. Caroline M. Kirkland, author of a "New Home, Who'll Follow," and other lively and entertaining books, died in New York on the 4th inst.

☞ The season is favorable for sap gatherers in Franklin county. Dea. John Titcomb, the prince of syrup and candy makers, has 1200 trees "on tap," says the Lewiston Journal.

☞ American agents are in England obtaining female operatives for the manufactories in this country. Not less than 200, the Oldham Chronicle says, left Newton and Fallsworth, on Monday, 14th ult.

☞ A well-known London printer, being called upon to reply to a toast, said, "Gentlemen, I thank you most heartily. I can't make a speech, but I can print one as long as you like."

☞ There is a proposition before the N. Y. Assembly to raise the salary of the Governor to $10,000. They could, no doubt, find good men to take the office for half the money.

☞ A Washington correspondent of the N. Y. Times says it is now understood as a settled matter that Gen. Meade will be retained in command of the Army of the Potomac, more firmly fixed in position than ever.

☞ Our Consul-General to Canada, Mr. Giddings, states that the change of sentiment in Canada towards this country, is very decided, and urges that in return we should not repeal the reciprocity treaty.

☞ Justice Clifford dissented from the decision of the other Justices in the Quicksilver mining case, giving the verdict for the company. The amount involved was about $20,000,000.

☞ John Bigelow of Marlboro, Ct., a veteran aged ninety-three years, who has never thus far in life failed to vote at any state election, went to the polls on the 4th and cast his ballot once more for the Union—for Buckingham and every man upon the ticket.

☞ The Bangor Whig says that on Monday, the House of B. O. Pendleton, in that city, was broken open and between two and three hundred dollars stolen. Henry C. Ames was arrested for the crime. Ames is a soldier, having served in the 1st. Me. Cavalry.

☞ The exports from Newfoundland to the United States during 1863, amounted to £56,997 against £30,605 in 1862. This was independent of about 50,000 bbls. herring from the Fortune Bay winter herring fishery, which are purchased each season by the Americans.

☞ The Court Martial still continues its session in this city. We learn that in the case of Lieut. Folsom, for kicking a soldier at Camp Berry so violently as to cause his death, the evidence was closed yesterday. There are other cases to come before the Court.

☞ The United States minister at Rome, General King, writes that the Americans in Rome have made liberal contributions to the Metropolitan Fair for the Sanitary commission, about to be held in New York, and that the Pope and Cardinal Antonelli have joined in the contributions.

☞ The last number of the Gospel Banner contains the valedictory of its retiring editor, Rev. R. A. Ballou, and the salutatory of its incoming editor, Rev. G. W. Quinby. We part with Br. Ballou with sincere regret, while we cheerfully extend the right hand of fellowship to Br. Quinby.

☞ The Rockland Free Press says "we notice that one paper in the State objects to the election of delegates at large by the legislature. While we insist as strongly as the strongest upon the right of the districts to elect in convention, we cannot see so much impropriety in the election of delegates at large by the legislature."

☞ The stomach of Thomas McEwen of St. Stephens, who died suddenly, was examined by a physician and found to contain alcohol, turpentine and copper! The latter of which was sufficient to cause death. McEwen had been drinking rum and ale in different shops. The verdict of the jury declared that the deceased came to his death "by drinking poisonous liquors and ale."

☞ George Thompson has addressed a note to Mr. Morris of Ohio, demanding proof or retraction of the statement by the latter, on the floor of the House, that he (Thompson) once said that "The dissolution of the Union is the object to be kept steadily in view." It is said that Mr. Morris has a speech of Sherrard Clemens as authority, but has made no answer to Mr. Thompson as yet.

☞ Mr. Sewell Phelps, of the well known firm of Phelps and Dalton, Boston, died on Friday last. He was one of the oldest practical printers in Boston, and for many years was senior member of the firm of Phelps & Farnum, favorably known to the trade some thirty-five years ago. For the past twenty years he has been at the head of the firm of Phelps & Dalton, ranking as a type founder with the first and most prominent of his profession in the United States.

☞ The members of the Mass. Legislature made their annual visit to Pro Agassiz's Museum of Comparative Zoology in Cambridge Tuesday, 5th inst., accompanied by Gov. Andrew, Gov. Cony, and Ex-Governors Hubbard and Kent of Maine, and John A. Poor, Esq. The company spent an hour in examining the Museum, after which Governor Andrew made a few remarks, expressive of the gratitude of the community to Prof. Agassiz for his labors..

☞ The Advertiser evidently is pleased with the speech of Mr. Stover, of Harpswell, in the Legislature, on the bounty and commutation question, for it is publishing it for the second time. We heard that speech delivered, and we venture to remark that no intelligent member of the House for a moment supposed it was written by the gentleman whose name it bears. It was a common remark that it bore the ear-marks of a gentleman whose residence is much nearer Portland than Harpswell.

☞ A paragraph in the Argus yesterday implied that Mr. Seward was, "a few years ago," complicated with the "Know Nothing" movement. Those familiar with Mr. Seward's course know better. No man more earnestly opposed that organization. More than this: Mr. Seward never has failed to carry the foreign vote of his State in his favor, when he has been before the people for their suffrage, and we know that Democrats have frequently made it the subject of their allegations that he pandered to the foreign population.

☞ A distinguished American residing in Europe writes as follows to a friend in Washington:—"In Europe the Americans are almost unanimous for Mr. Lincoln for a second term. He has done so well, been so honest and so faithful, that it would not be expedient to drop him now. It would, I think, have a bad effect upon American securities, of which so many millions are being sent here. It is a fault of our system that we change officers so often; and when one has been in Europe he cannot but see it in this light. The emancipation proclamation disarmed all opposition in Europe. It was astonishing what influence it had, and what friends it made of us."

BY TELEGRAPH
—TO THE—
EVENING PAPERS.

From New Orleans.

CAIRO, Ill., April 6.

The steamer Atlantic with N. O. dates 29th March arrived. Election in La. 28th, for delegates to the constitutional convention, resulted in the complete triumph of the free State party.

The steamer J. H. Russell with 400 bales of cotton, and a quantity of cattle and hogs, was consumed by fire at night at Plaquemine.

The steamer was on her passage from Vicksburg to N.O. and took fire from sparks of her torches. The mails from Alexandria together with the dispatches of Gen. Lee to the Headquarters Department of the Gulf were also burned. A passenger on the steamer by name of Thomas is missing. The boat was valued at $80,000, not insured.

The Brig Mary Felicite was wrecked near Pass Al'onter 21st of March, passengers and crew saved.

The rebel ram Tennessee was struck by a squall on the 1st inst, while lying near Grant's Pass, causing her to keel over and sink. But two feet of her smoke-stack now remain visible. Her armament will prove a heavy loss to the rebels. It consisted of six 100-pounder rifled Parrotts and nearly as many small pieces.

All is well with our fleet, though we have had some very hard weather.

At Alexandria on the 27th ult. it was reported that all was quiet, with the exception of occasional skirmishing. The rebel force was reported to be 20,000 strong.

It was supposed that their intention was to fall back from near Alexandria. about 50 miles and await an attack from us.

Our gunboats bound for Shreveport had succeeded in getting over the shoals.

A land force left Alexandria 27th, destined for Shreveport. The force was under command of Gen. Smith.

One hundred and fifty refugees arrived from Texas at New Orleans on the 29th.

Steamship Morning Star, from New York, had arrived, with many passengers and $350,000 in specie.

Gov. Yates came up on the Atlantic. Before leaving New Orleans the Illinois troops gave him a reception. After reviewing the troops his staff was formally announced. Gov. Yates then proceeded to address the soldiers, congratulating them on their appearance and eulogizing them for their noble conduct in the many battles they had passed through. Other speeches were made by Gen. Benton and Gov. Hahn of Louisiana.

There is but little business doing in New Orleans.

Changes and Assignments made in the Army Corps Commanders.

WAR DEPARTMENT, ADJ. GEN'S OFFICE. Washington, April 4, 1864.

By direction of the President of the United States, the following changes and assignments are made in army corps commands:

Major Gen. P. H. Sherman is assigned to the command of the Cavalry Corps of the army of the Potomac. The 11th and 12th cavarly Corps are consolidated and will be called the 1st Army Corps.

Major Gen. J. Hooker is assigned to a command

Major Gen. Gordon Granger is relieved from the command of the 4th Army Corps, and Major Gen. O. O. Howard is assigned in his stead.

Major Gen. Schofield is assigned to the command of the 23d Army Corps.

Major Gen. Slocum will report to Maj. Gen. Sherman, commanding the Division of the Mississippi and Major Gen. Stoneman will report to Major Gen. Scofield, commanding Department of the Ohio for assignment.

Maj. Gen. Granger will report by letter to the Adjutant Gen. of the army.

Capt. Horace Porter U. S. Ordnance Department, is announced as an aid-de-camp to Lieut. Gen. Grant, with rank of Lieut. Col.

By order of The Secretary of War.

(Signed) E. D. TOWNSEND,
Assistant Adjutant General.

That portion of this order relating to the consolidation of the 11th and 12th corps has been amended so as to denominate this consolidation the 20th instead of the 1st corps.

A well known scout named Pease connected for a long time with the army of the Potomac, and a member of the 1st Ohio cavalry disappeared last week, and is supposed to have been captured.

The 93d N. Y. Volunteers on Provost duty at Headquarters is to be relieved by the 11th Penn. Vol. The 93d goes into the 2d corps.

The Army of the Potomac is to-day immersed in mud.

At an early day a full train of passenger cars will be run over the Orange & Alexandria R. R., in place of the box and passenger car trains now used for the carrying of passengers.

Death of Mrs. Henry Clay.

LEXINGTON, Ky., April 7.

Mrs. Lucietta Clay, wife of Henry Clay, died last night at the residence of her son, John M. Clay, near Lexington, aged 83.

Kentucky Institution for the Education of the Blind.

We have received the Sixteenth Report of the Trustees of this prosperous State Institution. Its founder and Director, Mr. Bryce M. Patten, is a native of Maine and a graduate of Bowdoin College; and several of the teachers are natives of this State. It affords us pleasure to copy from this Report the following notices of three of the teachers who are daughters of well known citizens of this city:

Miss Georgia M. Harlow, one of the teachers of whom favorable mention was made in the last report of the institution, continues to discharge the important duties of her office with the greatest ability and fidelity, and merits the unqualified approval of all the friends of the institution.

Miss Maria Woodman, at the end of the annual session in 1862, with health somewhat impaired, felt it to be her duty to resign the office of teacher which she had filled with the greatest honor to herself and with perfect satisfaction to all. The finest natural endowments, the highest mental culture, and an unusual aptness to teach, rendered this young lady one of the most acceptable and successful teachers ever connected with the school, and we greatly regret the loss of her valuable services.

The place vacated by the resignation of Miss Woodman, was filled by the appointment of Miss Emma I. Day, a young lady of fine genius, of extensive literary attainments, of great ability as a teacher, and of earnest devotion to the pupils and the interests of the institution.

The institution is under the deepest obligations to Miss Day and Miss Harlow, not only for the faithful performance of all their duties as teachers, but for important extraordinary services in the severe trials through which the institution passed in the latter part of the year 1862. In all the difficulties of that memorable year, these teachers ever manifested vigilance, fearlessness, energy, fidelity, and forgetfulness of self, that are above all praise, and that rendered their services truly invaluable.

☞ The Boston Journal says Reverdy Johnson's speech on the amendment to the Constitution to abolish slavery took everybody by surprise. It was listened to with the profoundest attention, and proved a 200-pound shell in the camp of the Copperheads. It pleased the Radicals, because of the high ground taken, instead of pleading expediency, and it gratified the Conservatives, as it afforded them a new and broad stepping-stone up to the right.

STRIKE.—The gang employed in the mill of Capt. Arthur Berry, shut down on the first of April, without having entered any complaint, or giving him any notice of their intention. It was a rather summary way of doing business, and certainly without precedent in this region. Mr. Berry obtained a new crew, with part of those that had been to work, and started again on Tuesday.—[Gardiner Journal.

NEW BOOKS.—Messrs. Bailey and Noyes have received the National Almanac for 1864, published by Geo. W. Child, of Philadelphia, one of the most extensive and reliable works of the kind ever published. Every business man should have one. Full notice hereafter.

☞ "An Old Subscriber," who is able to supply his table with butter, etc., at present high prices, signifies his willingness to go without butter, milk, &c., one year to benefit poor people by reducing the price. We would suggest that two quarts of syrup, costing no more than one pound of butter, will go farther with hot rolls, muffins, buckwheat cakes, flapjacks, etc., than four pounds of butter, makes much better eating when one gets a little used to it, is cleaner every way than wheel-grease butter—much of which gets into the market—and is infinitely better for the breath.

☞ A large quantity of mail matter of various kinds is accumulating in the Post Office at Washington. One of the packages contained a beautiful black silk apron, embroidered, but the sender forgot to address it to any one. A valuable woolen shirt for a musician in the army was so imperfectly directed that it failed to reach the noble fellow for whom it was intended. So of photographs, various articles of wearing apparel, medicines, tobacco, and other little luxuries, all of which are retained in the office until all efforts to deliver them to the parties have proved unsuccessful.

☞ The Advertiser says—"that the enlistment of negroes who have escaped from slavery, to fight against their masters, has led to a most barbarous feature in the war, is now established." Did the enlistment of negroes lead to the bayoneting of our wounded Union soldiers at the first Bull Run battle? Did it lead the rebels to exhume and mutilate the bodies of our fallen braves, to make bracelets from their bones and drinking cups of their skulls? Did it lead to the enlistment of savages in Arkansas to use the tomahawk and scalping knife? Then, indeed, are the laws of philosophy reversed, and the effect precedes the cause.

☞ The Washington correspondent of the Tribune says the eulogies pronounced in the House on Owen Lovejoy, "constitute the most remarkable demonstration of admiration, respect, and love that has been made on the occasion of the death of a member of that body since the departure of John Q. Adams. From both sides of the house, and from partizans of life-long opposition to the distinguished Illinoisian, tributes came spontaneously. The eulogy from Mr. Pendleton, of the Southern Ohio Democracy, exceeded all for its tender and generous appreciation of the dead orator of Abolition."

☞ A young lady in fashionable dress, so fastidious that should a pet puppy put his paws upon her dress, she would almost go into hysterics, and exclaim, "Get out, you filthy brute!" will go into the street, and with the same costly dress sweep the dirty sidewalk by the half mile, leaving a cloud of dust in her wake rising half as high as her head. This is fashion! a dirty, offensive and barbarous fashion, against which every decent and cleanly gentleman should set his face and enter his protest. We would suggest the formation of a Young Men's Anti-Street Sweeping Society, the members pledging themselves neither to marry, speak, or even flirt with a female street-sweeper, unless she will do her work with a broom.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Coughs and Colds.

The sudden changes of our climate are sources of PULMONARY, BRONCHIAL and ASTHMATIC AFFECTIONS. Experience having proved that simple remedies often act speedily when taken in the early stage of the disease, recourse should at once be had to "Brown's Bronchial Troches," or Lozenges, let the Cold, Cough, or Irritation of the Throat be ever so slight, as by this precaution a more serious attack may be effectually warded off. Public SPEAKERS and SINGERS will find them effectual for clearing and strengthening the voice. Soldiers should have them, as they can be carried in the pocket, and taken as occasion requires. CAPE ELIZABETH, July 1, 1863.

SIR:—During my connection with the State Reform School, as a teacher, L. F. Atwood's Bitters were introduced there and used with marked success, particularly in Bilious affections.

Yours, &c., A. P. HILLMAN.

HANOVER, ME., Oct. 1, 1861.

Dear Sir:—I have used L. F. Atwood's Bitters for some 10 or 15 years. I have tried a great number of medicines for Dyspepsia, but without effect. These Bitters are the only remedy that have ever relieved me of this distressing complaint. My neighbors have also been greatly benefitted by the use of them.

FRAGRANT SOZODONT.—This article has been known and appreciated in New York for some time, but it is only recently that the proprietors increased their ability to supply the article and introduce it to the Boston public. Organization of a New Insurance Co.

The Corporators of the Dirigo Insurance Company, met yesterday afternoon at the room of the Board of Trade for the purpose of organizing. A. K. Shurtleff, Esq., presided, and T. C. Hersey acted as Secretary.

The act of incorporation, on motion of Mr. Eben Steele, was accepted.

On motion of Mr. D. W. Clark it was voted that the first subscribers to the stock, to an amount not exceeding $150,000, including the corporators, be admitted associates in the corporation, on condition that the instalments on their subscriptions be paid in securities satisfactory to the Directors, and of the description enunciated in the 2d article of the act of incorporation.

Subsequently a meeting of the Subscribers to the Stock was held at the same place, Mr. Shurtleff presiding, and Josiah Pierce, Jr., Esq., acting as Secretary.

After some discussionas to what should be the amount of the Capital Stock, in which Messrs. A. F. Deering, Manassah Smith, Edward Fox, S. E. Spring and H. M. Payson participated, it was voted to increase the Capital Stock to $200,000. The Capital originally contemplated was $150,000.

The question as to whether subscribers should pay interest on the amount of their subscriptions, and how the payment of the subscription should be secured, was left to the Directors.

Messrs. N. F. Deering, Charles Holden and Edward Shaw were appointed a committee to draft a code of By-Laws.

Messrs. Walker, Payson and Holden were appointed a committee to nominate a Board of Directors, and the meeting adjourned to Monday next at 4 o'clock P. M.

Municipal Court.—April 7.

Meyer Waterman pleaded guilty to a search and seizure process, and paid the fine of $20 and costs. Since January 1, 1863, Waterman has been before the Court six times for the same offense, paid $133 50 in fines and costs and had about 200 gallons of liquor seized and confiscated.

M. C. M. Association.—The annual meeting of this association for choice of officers, &c., was held in their Library room last evening. A portion of the yearly reports of officers and committees was received and discussed, and it being found that the business of the year could not well be disposed of in one evening, it was thought best to adjourn the meeting to Thursday evening, April 21st, when it is earnestly hoped that every member will be present, as it is proposed to then complete the unfinished business, select the officers for the coming year, &c.

Seizures.—Deputy Marshal Merrill and officer Smith, yesterday visited the shop of Abner Paine, No. 79 Green street, and seized ten or fifteen gallons of various kinds of liquors.

Deputy Marshal Wentworth and officer Irish paid another visit to the premises of Mrs. Rounds on Portland street and seized a small quantity of intoxicating liquors. This is the second seizure made at that place within one week.

Grand Union Ball.—A grand ball, the closing one of the season, will be given at Mechanic's Hall, next Thursday evening, to carry out which, in a proper manner, an extensive Committee of Arrangements has been appointed, consisting of citizens of our city and the neighboring cities and towns. The Camp Berry Band will be there and play promenade music, and Chandler's Quadrille Band will furnish the dancing music. Prof. Locke will act as prompter.

House Carpenters.— At an adjourned meeting of the journeymen house carpenters, held last evening, the following preamble and resolution was unanimously adopted:

Whereas, The present prices of labor are not in accordance with the prices of living, therefore

Resolved, That on and after Monday, April 11th, first class joiners will demand $2.50 per day.

Mr. John B. Chase was Chairman of the meeting, and Mr. Joseph Dow, Secretary.

Departure of Troops.—Steamer DeMolay, with a portion of the 2d Me. Cavalry and Chandler's Band for the 29th Maine, sailed yesterday for New Orleans.

The remainder of the cavalry, and the recruits intended for the Department of the Gulf, will come up from Augusta to-day and embark on board steamer Merrimac and ship Lancaster. They will sail on Sunday.

☞ Gen. Thos. A. Rowley, who has been in command of the conscript rendevous at Camp Berry, since last October, will leave this morning for the Headquarters of the Army of the Potomac, where he is ordered to report. He has won golden opinions during his brief stay here. The officers took leave of him and the Camp Berry Band serenaded him last evening at his lodgings at the U. S. Hotel.

☞ The Ravel Troupe were greeted by a large audience last evening and the performances received much applause. The second performance will take place this evening at Deering Hall. The performances of the Roman Gladiators, and the exhibition of the trained dogs, is well worth the price of admission.

New Books Received.—Hints to Riflemen, by H. W. S. Cleveland. My Cave Life in Vicksburg, by a lady. Church Essays, by Geo. C. McWhorton. Universal Progress, by Hubert Spencer. For sale by Hall L. Davis. Full notice hereafter.

☞ Perham had another fine house at the exhibition of the Mirror of the Rebellion last evening. Our people are beginning to appreciate the merits of these paintings, and the noble object for which the exhibition is gotton up.

Picture of Gen. Grant.—We have received an elegant and life-like picture of Lieut. Gen. Grant, engraved by J. C. Buttin, New York. It is for sale in this city by John Russell and the book stores.

☞ Mr. A. D. Reeves has improved his tailoring and furnishing establishment on Exchange street and has just added to his stock a large assortment of cloths, cassimeres, vestings, &c. Purchasers are invited to call.

☞ We learn that Poppenberg and his band returned to this city yesterday, and will remain a short at Fort Preble. We hope they will afford our citizens a taste of their music before again leaving us.

☞ Sprague & Blanchard's Minstrel Troupe will open at Lancaster Hall on Monday evening next.

☞ The Howard Atheneum Troupe will open at Deering Hall, on Monday evening, with the new play of Pomp of Cudjo's Cave.

Union League.—Council No. 4 will meet at the usual place this evening.

XXXVIII CONGRESS---First Session.

WASHINGTON, April 7.

SENATE.

Mr. Hale, from the Naval Committee, reported back the resolution introduced by Mr. Grimes yesterday, to repeal the joint resolution for the transfer of seamen from military to naval service, accompanied by a report, which was ordered to be printed.

Mr. Hale also reported on the bill to amend the act relative to certain officers, and on the bill in relation to supplies; also reported adversely on the bill relative to paymasters' clerks with an amendment.

Mr. Hale also reported in favor of passing the bill to amend the act to regulate the grade of line officers of the navy; also in favor of the resolution of thanks to Admiral Porter, and the resolution to compensate the crew of the gunboat Baron de Kalb for losses; also, adversely on the petition of warrant officers.

Mr. Morrill offered a resolution for printing 1000 copies of the report of the engineers of the Washington acqueduct for the use of the Interior Department. Referred to Committee on Printing.

On motion of Mr. Trumbull, the following was adopted:

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Interior be directed to inform the Senate what amount of fees and emoluments of every kind and character were received by the Attorney and Marshal of the United States for the District of Columbia respectively, and by the clerks of the several courts for said District during the year ending Dec. 31, 1863, and what amount was allowed to each of said officers, deputies, clerks, and for other incidental expenses during the same period.

Mr. Davis called up his resolution instructing the Judiciary Committee to enquire into and report whether or not Mr. Yocum, late of Cairo, is now confined in the Albany penitentiary under sentence of court martial, though having received a full pardon from the President.

Mr. Grimes suggested an amendment, and that the committee report to the Senate the charges, &c., on which Yocum was tried.

Mr. Davis accepted the amendment, and explained the facts of the case, saying that Yocum had charge of the contrabands at Cairo, and a loyal slaveholder of Kentucky having come there and taken steps in compliance with the fugitive slave act carried off his runaway slave, for which Yocum was tried, committed to the old Capitol here, but subsequently pardoned by the President the day after which he was sent to the Albany penitentiary. After further discussion the subject went over informally.

Mr. Doolittle called up the House bill appropriating $300,000 for the benefit of Indian refugees from the Southern and other reservations affected by the rebellious position taken by some of the tribes. Mr. D. said it was necessary that the Indians should get home at once in time to make crops this season. Some verbal amendments were made and the bill passed.

Mr. Hendricks then proceeded to address the Senate at length in opposition to the joint resolutions to amend the Constitution to prohibit slavery in the United States, and in reply to the speech of Mr. Hale yesterday.

He was followed by Mr. Henderson, who favored the proposed amendment.

Mr. Saulsbury submitted the following:

Resolved, That the chaplain of the Senate be respectfully requested hereafter to pray and supplicate Almighty God in our behalf, and not to lecture him, informing him, under pretence of prayer, his said chaplain's opinion in reference to his duty as the Almighty; and that the said chaplain be further requested as aforesaid not under the form of prayer to lecture the Senate in reference to his duty as the Almighty; and that the said chaplain be further requested as aforesaid not under the form of prayer to lecture the Senate in relation to questions before the body.

Mr. Howard objected to the resolution.

The Senate then went into executive session and adjourned.

HOUSE.

On motion of Mr. Garfield, of Ohio, the Secretary of War was directed to inform the House how many commissioned officers, with their names and rank, have been dismissed from the military service by authority of the President without trial by court martial since the beginning of the present war, and how many such dismissals have been revoked.

Mr. Garfield said the resolution was reported at the instance of the Military Committee. A bill had been passed by the House, but had been reported upon unfavorably in the Senate, taking away from the President the power of summary dismissal.

As a communication on this subject had been received from Advocate General Holt, it seemed only just that all the facts should be laid before the House. The resolution was passed.

The House then resumed the consideration of the Raritan & Delaware Railroad bill.

Mr. Woodbridge, of Vt., argued in favor of the constitutionality and expediency of declaring the roads of the company to be military and post routes. The public should be protected against that legalized monopoly, the Camden & Amboy Railroad Company, which not only imposed burdens on the people, but crippled the Government in the performance of its duties. This company, he says, interferes with the elections of that State, and designates who shall be elected.

Mr. Rogers, of N. C., remarked that the statement was false from beginning to end.

Mr. Woodbridge took the disclosures as true, according to the best information of the gentleman; but he (Woodbridge) has been informed that the Camden & Amboy Company puts its foot on such nominations as may not best serve the interests of the great monopoly.

The subject here went over.

The House then proceeded to the consideration of the special order, mainly business relating to the District of Columbia.

Several local bills were passed; and one appropriating $250,000 for the erection of a penitentiary, jail and house of correction in the District of Columbia was discussed, but pending the motion to lay it on the table, the House, at a quarter to five, adjourned.

The Great International Telegraph.

WASHINGTON, April 7.

Mr. Collins has returned to Washington, after nearly two years absence in Russia and England, negotiating for a right of way and the construction of a telegraph across Asiatic Russia, Russian America, and British Columbia, so as to connect Europe with America by way of Bhering Straits, it having been brought to a satisfactory conclusion under favorable terms, and now awaits the final action of Congress. We understand that Mr. Collins will soon present the plan to Congress. It is due to Great Britain and Russia that their liberal grants and concessions in aid of a purely international work of this nature, an enterprise fraught with incalculable advantages to the United States and the world at large, should command promptly generous aid from the United States. It certainly devolves upon our government to second this great enterprise, and more especially now since Russia and Great Britain have met the question in a liberal international spirit, and cleared it of all question as to right of way, so as to connect London and St. Petersburg with New York. There never was an enterprise presented to the consideration of government that pleads more eloquently. It is the last link in a telegraphic chain that is to bind not only Europe and America, but Asia and Africa as well, into one living and speaking unity.

From Washington.

WASHINGTON, April 7.

Senator Hale, Chairman of the Naval Committee, has now under consideration the numerous applications for the relief of the engine and ship builders who have contracted with the Navy Department. Congress alone can aid them by direct appropriation.

Five thousand applications have already been made by seamen to be transferred from the army to the navy. Applications should continue to be made to the Navy Department.

It is stated by Senators that a national bank or currency bill, will be passed by the Senate and sent to the House for its concurrence.

The Senate, in executive session to day, confirmed the nomination of Nicholas L. Humphrey, of Maine, as Consul at the Island of Trinidad.

Washington Reports.

NEW YORK, April 7.

A special dispatch to the Commercial Advertiser says: "It is understood that attempts will be made to engraft certain other propositions in the anti-slavery amendment to the Constitution, but it is believed that the Senate will vote them all down and pass the original amendment as it was first drawn.

It is said the compensation for reprinting and publishing the debates of Congress in the Globe is to be largely increased, Mr. Rives having given notice that he cannot continue to report and print them at the prices now paid.

It is understood that a number of General Hooker's friends will give him a public dinner on his return from the West.

The consolidation of the different corps in the Army of the Potomac, creates, as might have been expected, much unpleasant feeling among the military.

The New Government Loan.

NEW YORK, April 7.

The Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, George Harrington, authorizes the publication of the following:

The statement contained in a special dispatch to the New York World of the 7th inst., that the interest on the 10-40 loan will probably be raised to 6 per cent., is incorrect.—There is reason to believe that bonds bearing 5 per cent., principal and interest payable in gold, will command all the money the treasurer will need to borrow. Instructions to the National Banks acting as loan agents who issued March 26th, and the subscriptions reported to the United States Treasurer up to April 6th, amounted to $8,607,871. No doubt is entertained that the subscriptions will rapidly increase as soon as the various agencies are organized and in operation throughout the country.

From Fortress Monroe.

FORTRESS MONROE, April 5.

The steamer New York has left for City Point under a flag of truce, taking up about 30 women and children.

The storm continues with great severity.

The Yorktown boat has not made her usual trip to-day.

FORTRESS MONROE, April 6.

The schooner Wm. A. Ellis, from New York for Washington, has put in here for assistance. She reports, on the 2d inst, 25 miles off Cape Henry, encountered a heavy gale, which carried away the jibboom, and three men were washed overboard. This morning another man was lost.

Additional Foreign News.

HALIFAX, N. S., April 7.

The steamship Kedar, from Liverpool March 26th, arrived at six o'clock this evening. She brings the following additional news:

London, March 28th, Morning.—The Morning Post in a leader on Poland and Denmark, says: "We shall be glad to discover that no holy alliance expect to crush the liberties of Europe, just as we should wish to learn that the hostility of Germany towards Denmark was prompted by sympathy with copatriots, and not by the abhorrence of liberal views on the one point or on the other. However, we lack the information to justify us in drawing the wished for inferences."

Berlin letters mention that Prince Hopensollerens Sigmariangen has left for the seat of war, to endeavor to effect a reconciliation between Frederick Charles and Marshal Mangel.

Maryland Emancipation Vote.

BALTIMORE, April 7.

Talbot county gives 300 and Essex 250 for the convention and unconditional emancipation. Worcester county is incomplete, but no doubt has gone for the convention. Dorset gives 300, Kent 200, Queen Anne 650 and Somerset 400 against a convention and for the Democratic ticket. Howard county has gone for the convention, but the delegation is uncertain; it is thought it will be one conservative and two radicals.

Up to this evening the returns do not change the general result as estimated last night. There will doubtless be a good working majority for unconditional emancipation.

New Railroad Route in New York.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y. April 7.

A numerously attended meeting was held at Salt Point, Duches co., yesterday of the friends of the proposed R. Road from this city to Copoke. The farmers along the route are quite alive to the benefits such a road would confer on them, and mustered in strong force. A committee was appointed to obtain subscriptions in the various towns. Addresses were made and the best of feeling prevailed. A meeting will be held at Bangall on the 20th.

Various Items.

NEW YORK, April 7.

The regulations in relation to the price of gold at the Treasury will be 165 until the close of business April 16th.

Subscriptions to the 10-40 loan at the first National Bank to-day was $205,400.

The receipts at the Custom House to-day were $289,000, of which $259,000 was in gold certificates.

POETRY.

Written for the Press.

Dawning of Freedom.

As breaks the orient beams of morn,
When night its sable wings have closed,
And nature, hailing its return,
Bursts forth afresh from its repose,
So from our country's darkest night,
Dawns forth the rays of holy light,
Undimmed by traitor's hand;
But brighter, purer for the strife,
That saves our noble land.

As melts the icy fetters slow,
Beneath the warm and gentle rain,
And lets the bounding rivers flow,
So melts the bondman's heavy chain.
The eagle soars on prouder wings,
O'er hill-tops where the echo rings
Back to the sea again—
And higher while each patriot's voice
Joins in the swelling strain.

The wintry hours have glided by,
The Spring has brought the glad release;
So wait we till the battle-cry
Close with the soothing notes of peace.
Peace, lasting peace! thy name shall be
Our watch-word joined with liberty
For ages to come;
While th' God of peace shall seal our land,
Bright freedom's chosen home.

MISCELLANY.

Kitty Bragg's Husband.

"Mercy on us! What has happened to your father? Run out quick, Charlie, and open the gate. What is the matter' John? You are as white as a sheet."

"Kitty, I'm drafted!"

In place of falling to crying and moaning, as is the fashion with some of our women, Kitty Bragg laid her hand heavily on her husband's shoulder.

"John, I'm ashamed of you! If you were a child, I would give you a good shaking. Compose yourself, before Charlie comes in—I would not have him think his father was a coward!"

"That is a hard word, Kitty."

"I know it, John, but the case demands it. I would not have you lowered in our boy's sight. Now John Bragg let you and I talk sense; let us reason the matter together. You are a good man, John—a husband and a good father. You are a brave man, too, despite your trembling nerves. I know what ails you, John. You are physically nervous at the report of fire-arms or the sight of blood. You have spent your life pouring over books, and never tried to overcome the weakness. But you can overcome it and must."

This "must" was said smilingly.

"I must, indeed, for the die is cast' and there is no escape. I do not think it is want of courage; and I am sure my heart glows for my country. You know Kitty I have given freely of my poor means; but whenever I think of going to battle, this strange tremor assails me, and I am reduced to the weakness of a child. I shall be disgraced, I know. Don't you wish you had a braver husband, Kitty? I wouldn't blame you."

But Kitty did not hear. She sat by the kitchen hearth, leaning her brown hands on the jamb of the hugh old-fashioned chimney. Her thoughts at last formed themselves into the words—

"I verily believe, John, it is a thing you cannot help. It is not your misfortune, not your fault. Let us sell the place. Joe Martin will give you five hundred dollars for it, and then you can get a substitute. We can rent the little red house on the Murry farm, and then—"

"Never, Kitty! Talk no more; I would, indeed, be a coward then. What! deprive my loved ones of a home to save myself from hardships? Never, never! It is not my life I am afraid of; It is just the din of battle and the dreadful carnage. I will go, my dear wife and you must help me to be brave and do my duty."

The morning came at last that the drafted were to join their regiment.—There were many a tear shed by wives, mothers and sisters; but Kitty Bragg shed none—she had other work to do—She stood talking with John at the end of the platform.

"My little Bible is in your knapsack, John. Read it often. Whenever you feel that trembling coming over you, John, pray; just pray to God, and he will strengthen you. I know He will."

"God bless you, Kitty! you are the best wife ever a poor man had."

She lifted up her mouth for a kiss; but the white lips were mute—for the life of her she could not have spoken.

The train moved off, and Kitty went home. She shuddered as she crossed her doorstep. The clock ticked more lonely than she had ever heard it, and all seemed like desolation Kitty sat down in her little sewing chair and wept like a child. Charlie came in, his face all aglow and his eyes flashing.

"What! mother crying? Why, I think it is a glorious thing to raise one's arm for one's country—a thing to die for," he said, rather dreamily.

"Yes, my dear son, it is glorious; but it is sad, too. I would not call him back; but I will be lonely."

Charlie went off to school in the morning, and she was left alone all day—Broken ejaculations often escaped Kitty's lips—prayers for the safety and "strengthing" of her husband, until at last it became a habit.

One Saturday, as she was baking and churning, as usual her heart was full of prayer for her husband.

"O, God! strengthen poor John, and let him not flinch in the day of battle.—Charlie, bring me some more chips; for the fire won't burn."

A neighbor, who was standing on the doorstep, smiled at the mingling of prayer and business.

"Have you heard the news, Kitty?"

The fear that John had deserted or done something cowardly took all her strength away, and she sank down faintly on a chair.

"What is it, Mary?"

"Why, they had a riot in camp.—Some of the men deserted, and some mutined, and John—Bless me, Kitty, but your milk's boiling over! There I put it on the back griddle."

"What about John, Mary?"

"Why, John was the only one in his company that stood firm all through.—He was as brave as a lion, though some of the half-crazy fellows threatened to shoot him if he did not join them. He influenced our boys to be quiet and do their duty. He told them it would only be for a little while; that after a while they would have a better camp and better rations."

Kitty was crying for joy—that the first news of John should be good

"Jacob said in his letter that he said to John, after the fuss—

"John, how could you be so brave and firm when there was so much confusion, and those fellows had their bayonets pointed at you?"

"Your John replied—

"Jacob, I came here to do my duty, and I am determined to do so; and, besides, how could a man go back from the right path with such a woman as my Kitty at home praying for me?"

This made Kitty's tears flow faster; but they were joyful tears.

All young men who fear the draft, go and find a wife like Kitty Bragg.

FOR SALE & TO LET.

Desirable Farm for Sale.

THE subscriber offers for sale a very valuable real estate, situated in the pleasant village of Freeport, containing about 28 acres of good land, with a two-story dwelling house, out-buildings, stable and barn, all in good repair. The above was the homestead of the late J. W. Mitchell. It has a front on the country road from Portland to Brunswick, of about 50 rods, with rear line on Portland & Kennebec Railroad.

the buildings are finely located, and afford a delightful prospect of scenery. It is within five minutes walk from station of said railroad, village stores, meeting-houses, schools, &c. It has a large old orchard, containing varieties of apples, pears, &c. Also abundance of garden fruits. Cuts about ten tons of hay yearly, is finely watered by an ever living brook springs, &c. Has a fine row of old shade elm trees on the county road; and, together, embraces such perior advantages for the purchaser, that those wishing to buy are invited to call and examine for themselves.

Will exchange for good city or vessel property.

VALUABLE REAL ESTATE FOR SALE.

Good Location for a Hotel.

That valuable and centrally located House and Lot, No. 31 India street, for so many years owned and occupied by General Samuel Fessenden, is offered for sale.

The Lot is 70 feet on India street, extending back 171 feet—containing nearty 12,000 feet of land. The House is three storied, is in good repair, and contains fifteen rooms, besides many closets and other conveniences; has gas fixtures throughout: it also has a large flow of PURE AQUEDUCT WATER, which is very desirable; also a large Wood House and Barn.

This a good piece of property upon which to make improvements. It may be fitted for a FIRST CLASS BOARDING HOUSE, or a SECOND CLASS HOTEL.

Its near proximity to the terminus of the Grand Trunk Railway and to the wharves of the Boston and other steamers, makes the location a desirable one for a Hotel.

This lot might be improved with profit to any mechanic or other person having means, by the erection of Tenements, its large depth affording ample space for a block of eight or ten buildings.

whether general, or following acute disease. Convalescents from sickness will find it a most excellent restorative and agreeable exhilerant.

NO SOLDIER SHOULD BE IN THE FIELD WITHOUT IT.

WHAT IS SAID OF IT:

The report of the Sanitary Commission says:

"It is wise and prudent where ague and fevers are prevalent, that every man should take a dose of Quinine Bitters at least once in twenty-four hours. This will surely serve as a safeguard against disease. It has been practiced in Florida and elsewhere with undoubted benefit."

MISS DIX, at the head of the Hospital Department Washington, writes:

"I would again, at this period, say that your Quinine Tonic is used, and that several Surgeons of Regiments much approve of it."

Capt. WALTER S. SAMPSON, of the U. S. Army, says:

"The Bitters did an immense amount of good among the men under my command; as, for instance, a number of sore throat, or diarrhea, or dysentary and chills and fever, were cured by it."

Surgeon Gen. WM. J. DALE says:

"I esteem it an invaluable remedy in various forms of debility," &c.

Female STRENGTHENING COIAL.

This Medicine is of long tried efficacy for correcting all disorders incidental to the feminine sex. That the afflicted may feel assured that this Cordial is truly valuable and worthy their confidence, not one of those secret compounds purposed to destroy healthy action, I add a few testimonials from physicians whom all, favoring the Electric and Reformed Practice of Medicine, respect.

DR. WILLARD C. GEORGE, formerly Professor in the Worcester Medical College, and President of the Electric Medical Society, Mass., speaks of it in the following terms:

"I have used the Female Strengthening Cordial similar to that preparation by DR. GEO. W SWETT, 106 Hanover Street, and I regard it as one of the best Medicines for Female Complaints that can be found."

DR. J. KING, Author of "Woman: Her Diseases and their Treatment," says:

"This Medicine appears to exert a specific influence on the Uterus. It is a valuable agent in all derangements of the Female Reproductive Organs."

DR. SMITH, President of the New York Association of Botanic Physicians, says:

"No Female, if in delicate health, shoud omit the timely use of this valuable Cordial. I owe much of my success in midwifury to the use of this Medicine."

MOTHERS AND MARRIED LADIES:

The following from Dr. FAY is worthy your notice:

"As a general remedy for Female Complaints this 'Cordial' is a very valuable one, but by the Profession it is esteemed more highly for its good result during Confinement in relieving the great suffering attendant upon childbirth. I acknowledge with Dr. Smith that much of my success in midwifery is due to the use of this medicine. It strengthens both mother and child. In each cases I follow the directions of Prof. King, by allowing my patients to use it a few weeks previous to confinement, as by the energy it imparts to the uterine nervous system the labor will be very much facilitated, and removes the scraps which many females are liable to. No woman, if she knew the great value of this Strengthening Cordial would fail to use it."

I have received numerous testimonials from different parts of the country where used. Knowing the good it is capable of doing, I w ll warrant every bottle of my "Cordial" to be satisfactory in its results.

The following symptoms indicate those affections in which the Female Strengthening Cordial has proved invaluable:

Indisposition to Exertion, Wakefulness, Uneasiness, Depression of Spirits, Trembling, Loss of Power, Pain in the Back, Alternate Chills, and Flushing of Heart, Dragging Sensation at the Lower Part of the Body, Headache, Languor, Aching Along the thighs, Intolerence of Light and Sound, Pale Countenance, Derangement of the Stomach and Bowels, Difficult Breathing, Hysteria, &c., &c.

It is a specific remedy in all Uterine Diseases, Chlorosis of Green Sickness, Irregularity, Barrenness, Profuse or Suppression of Customary Discharges, Leucorrhœa or Whites, Scirrhus or Ulcerate State of the Uterus, Sterility, &c.

No better Tonic can possibly be put up than this, and none less likely to do harm, and it is composed wholly of vegetable agents, and such as we have known to be valuable, and have used for many years.

PRICE, One Dollar Per Bottle.

Sold by Druggists generally.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

Great Fire in West Meriden Ct.

VALENTINE & BUTLER'S

Alum Patent Fire Proof Safe

TRIUMPHANT.

AT the great fire in West Meriden, Conn., on the 8th inst., Messrs. Valentine & Butler's Alum Patent Fire and Burglar Proof Safe was subjected to one of the most severe tests on record. The safe was subjected to a red hot heat for nearly fourteen hours, and delivered up its contents in perfect order, saving nearly THIRTY THOUSAND DOLLARS worth of property to the owners. The contents of two other Safes, of other makers, and standing within THREE FEET of the Alum Patent, were ENTIRELY DESTROYED.

Samples of the money and papers taken from the Safes destroyed, also those taken from the Alum Patent, have been forwarded by mail, and can be seen at the Hardware store of H. Warren Lancey, & Co., on Lime Street.

Valentine & Butler, Alum Patent Fire, and Burglar Proof Safes have been tested in over TWO HUNDRED accidental fires within the last thirteen years, and in no instance have they ever failed to preserve their contents from the attacks of either fire or burglar. Parties in need of a reliable Fire and Burglar Proof Security, will do well to give this matter a careful investigation before purchasing. Messrs. Thomson & Co., of New Haven, Conn., are the Agents for the sale of these Safes in the New England States and offer by permission to the following parties in Portland who have recently purchased the Alum Patent of them:

Portland Gas Light Co.; C. C. Mitchell & Son; P. & F. A R. R. Co.; Cleveland & Osgood; Daniel Winslow & Son; Rufus E. Wood, Esq; Hobbs, Chase & Co.; E. Clarr, M. D; Josiah Burleigh, Esq.; W. W. Hilton, Esq.; H. M. Payson, Esq.; A. F. York, Esq.; and many others.

Certificates giving further particulars in relation to the late fire, will be published in a few days.

DR. J. B. HUGHES

CAN BE FOUND AT HIS

PRIVATE MEDICAL ROOMS,

No. 5 Temple Street,

WHERE he can be consulted privately, and with the utmost confidence by the afflicted, at all hours daily, from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M.

Dr. H. addresses those who are suffering under the affliction of private disease, whether arising from impure connection or the terrible vice of self-abuse. Devoting his entire time to that particular branch of the medical profession, he feels warranted in GUARANTEEING A CURE IN ALL CASES, whether of long standing or recently contracted, entirely removing the dregs of disease from the system, and making a perfect and PERMANENT CURE.

He would call the attention of the afflicted to the fact of his long standing and well earned reputation, furnishing sufficient assurance of his skill and success.

CAUTION TO THE PUBLIC.

Every intelligent and thinking person must know that remedies handed out from general use should have their efficacy established by well-tested experience in the hands of a regularly educated physician, whose preparatory study fits him for all the duties he must fulfill; yet the country is flooded with poor nostrums and cure-alls, purporting to be the best in the world, which are not only useless, but always injurious. The unfortunate should be PARTICULAR in selecting his physician, as it is a lamentable yet incontrovertable fact that many syphilitic patients are made miserable with ruined constitutions by maltreatment from inexperienced physicians in general practice; for it is a point generally conceded by the best sythlographers, that the study and management of these complaints should engross the whole time of those who would be competent and successful in their treatment and cure. The inexperienced general practitioner, having neither opportunity nor time to make himself acquainted with their pathology, commonly pursues one system of treatment, in most cases making an indiscriminate use of that antiquated and dangerous weapon, Mercury.

HAVE CONFIDENCE.

All who have committed an excess of any kind,—whether it be the solitary vice of youth, or the stinging rebuke of misplaced confidence in maturer years,

SEEK FOR AN ANTIDOTE IN SEASON.

The Pains and Aches, and Lassitude and Nervous Prostration that may follow Impure Coition, are the Barometer to the whole system.

Do not wait for the consummation that is sure to follow, do not wait for Unsightly Ulcers, for Disabled Limbs, for Loss of Beauty and Complexion.

HOW MANY THOUSANDS CAN TESTIFY TO THIS BY UNHAPPY EXPERIENCE.

Young Men troubled with emissions in sleep, a complaint generally the result of a bad habit in youth, treated scientifically, and a perfect cure warranted, or no charge made.

Hardly a day passes but we are consulted by one or more young men with the above disease, some of whom are as weak and emaciated as though they had the consumption, and by their friends supposed to have it. All such cases yield to the proper and only correct course of treatment, and in a short time are made to rejoice in perfect health.

MIDDLE AGED MEN.

There are many men at the age of 40 or 50 whoare troubled with too frequent evacuations from the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation, and weakening the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examining urinary deposits a ropy sediment will often be found, and sometimes small particles of semen or albumen will appear, or the color will be of a thin milkish hue, again changing to a dark and turbid appearance. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the

SECOND STAGE OF SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

I can warrant a perfect cure in such cases, and a full and healthy restoration of the urinary organs.

Persons who cannot personally consult the Dr., can do so by writing in a plain manner a description of their disease, and the appropriate remedies will be forwarded immediately.

All correspondence strictly confidential and will be returned if desired.
